MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

When GBV persist, the mission to fight against it becomes our duty

On behalf of the HAGURUKA Board of Directors and staff, I'm delighted to present the report that entails the achievements for the year 2024. The report highlights the realized achievements, success stories as well as the way forward.

We provided legal aid services to 2656 (1828F & 828M) people. Connected to that we represented 194 victims of GBV before courts of law. HAGURUKA conducted awareness raising on Family Law, Land Law, GBV Law, and Child Rights that reached 18,730 people (11,631F & 7,099M).

The awareness was conducted through community assemblies (inteko z'abaturage), radio and Tv shows as well as community dialogues. In the spirit of enlightening citizens on their rights and obligations and building more informed citizens as stipulated in legal aid policy

In line to improve the capacity of state and non-state actors to effectively deliver, we have trained 4868 (2222F & 2646M) different categories of people such as Medical Doctors, Nurses, local leaders on different laws. Under research and advocacy, we developed NST2 policy brief, conducted assessment on shelters as well as development of SOPs for HAGURUKA shelters.

These achievements would not have been possible without the dedication and courage of the HAGURUKA staff, the support of our esteemed partners, and guidance from the board of directors; all the above achievements would not have been realized. Your contribution of all kinds to the advancement of the HAGURUKA Mission has not been taken for granted. Despite of changing landscape in funding, HAGURUKA remains attached to the cause of empowering the community in line with our mission.

Thank you!

Organization Capacity Development (OCD)

As envisioned in HAGURUKA's strategic plan, the organization is dedicated to boosting the capacity of staff and paralegals to effectively serve our rights holders. In this regard 30 staff and 45 paralegals were empowered on diverse topics.

SUCCESS STORY

Marie claire finds justice through paralegal services

My name is Nkurunziza Marie Claire; I was illegally married with Joseph Nizeyimana whom we lived together for over 10 years blessed with 1 daughter. While living together we acquired properties composed of land, 2 plots, and 2 houses.

Later, my husband left our home to find another wife and excluded me on properties as if we have never known each other claiming that I'm not his wife and I don't have any contribution in properties we had.

Later I participated in a dialogue where Haguruka paralegal sensitized the rights of women on properties especially those living in informal marriage. After the meeting, I approached her presented my case and she linked me with Haguruka Lawyer.

Haguruka gave me the lawyer to represent me before the court. The final court decision ordered that Nizeyemana should give me one house worth 12,000,000Frws which changed my life and the life of my child as I had registered it and started to rent it and earn money to start a small business.

I thank HAGURUKA for the tremendous support that helped me to access justice.

Smartphones: Enhancing Paralegal effectiveness

Paralegals are vital bridges connecting citizens to legal support and HAGURUKA services, acting as key agents for community mobilization on legal matters, GBV prevention, and response.

Equipping paralegals with smartphones has significantly enhanced their effectiveness. As a result, they now submit reports directly into HAGURUKA's dashboards and Kobotool. This technological upgrade has led to increased data accessibility, improved data storage, and enhanced data security.

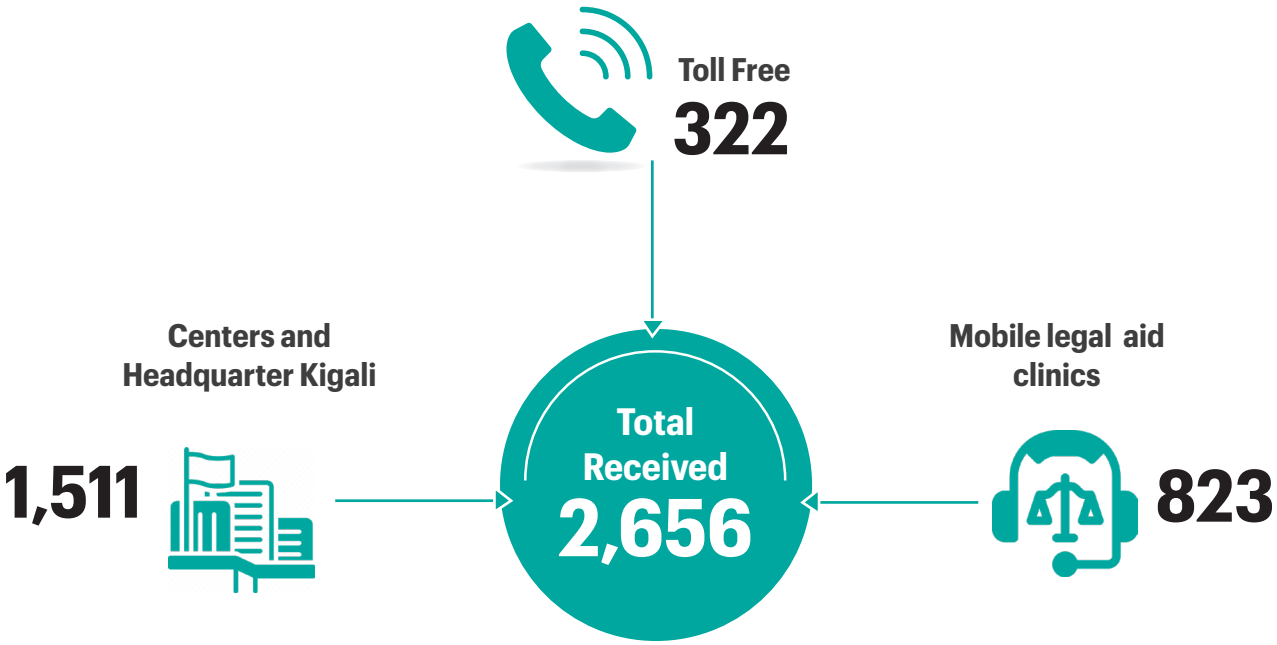

Zainabu Kayitesi, a paralegal from Remera Sector, Ngoma District, shared:

"Before I used to report in a traditional way using books, where I sometimes lost the information, but now I am using a smartphone to report to Haguruka systems, taking pictures to support my reports, calling right holders, and following the progress of rights holders' cases, especially those referred to different institutions."

Access to Justice and Psychosocial Support (AJPS)

HAGURUKA support vulnerable women and children to access justice, through representing them before courts of law, DNA testing, legal advice, mediation. In this regard, HAGURUKA supported 2,656 right holders. In the adult category 344 were males, 1300 females while in children category were 484 boys, and 528 girls. On the other hand, toll free support right holders to follow-up to progress of their cases without coming to Haguruka offices. It helps right holders to lodge cases without coming to offices as well as seeking advices on proper evidence gathering

CASES CATEGORIZATION

Among the 2,656 right holders received, their cases where analyzed and categorized. Based on analysis, some cases involved multiple categories which is why the number of categories exceed the number of right holders that presented the cases as summarized in the graph below as shown below.

OFFERING LEGAL AID SERVICES

Legal representation

Haguruka represents vulnerable women and children with financial difficulties to access Justice by representing them before courts of law. In that regard,194 (F:183, M:11) right holders were represented in courts as summarized in graph below.

From illegal marriage to equal ownership

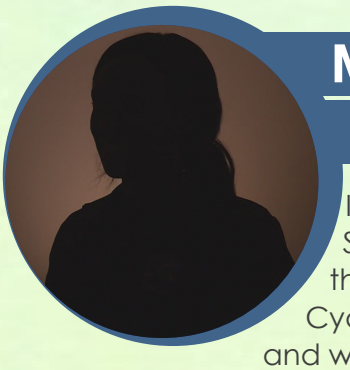

My name is UWERA Marie Louise, I live in Zaza Sector, Ngoma District. I was illegally married to a man, and our relationship was engulfed in relentless conflict, which resulted in my exclusion from the properties we obtained during our cohabitation simply because we weren't legally married.

I approached the Haguruka office in Ngoma to present my case, and they supported me in filing the case and represented me in court. The court ordered that we share three houses and land equally. However, the judgment was not executed due to a spelling error in the court decision. Haguruka's lawyer helped me file a complaint to the court requesting the correction of the errors, asked for an enforcement order, and advocated for me with a bailiff who assisted in executing my judgment. I have now regained my rights and received my 50% share of the property, thanks to Haguruka's assistance.

MEDIATION

Haguruka believes in the power of mediation to achieve mutually acceptable resolutions without resorting to formal court trials. This year, we facilitated mediation for 120 right-holders, helping them resolve conflicts effectively and amicably.

Mediation transformed a former prisoner's mindset

I am Mukabahigi, a 65-year-old woman living in Kabatasi Cell, Rubona Sector, Rwamagana District. I was married to Cyaruhinda Francois before the 1994 Genocide against the Tutsi. Our lives took a devastating turn when Cyaruhinda was accused of committing crimes related to the genocide and was sentenced to 18 years in prison.

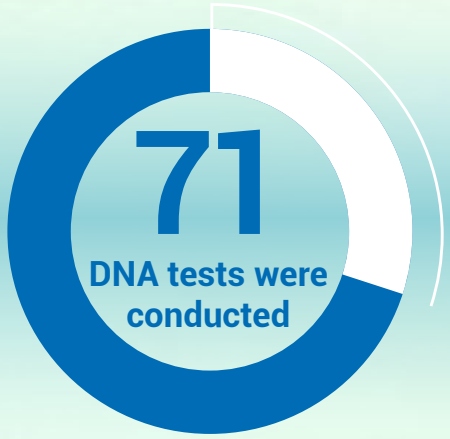

In 2013, Cyaruhinda was released and returned home, but his behavior had changed dramatically. He had developed a severe drinking problem, which led to violent outbursts and chaos in our home. The local authorities tried to intervene, but their efforts were in vain. I feared that if we separated, our house would be divided, leaving me homeless in my old age. The authorities' decision to have Cyaruhinda live in one part of the house while my daughter, grandson, and I lived in another only provided temporary relief.

One day, I learned about Haguruka lawyers offering free legal services at our cell office. They listened attentively to my story and worked with the local leaders to summon Cyaruhinda, our daughter, and me. Cyaruhinda acknowledged the harm his behavior had caused and agreed to work on changing his ways. The lawyer guided him in improving his behavior and understanding its legal implications. Through mediation, we were able to address the root causes of our problems, and today, our home is filled with love and harmony.

DNA TESTING FOR VULNERABLE FAMILIES

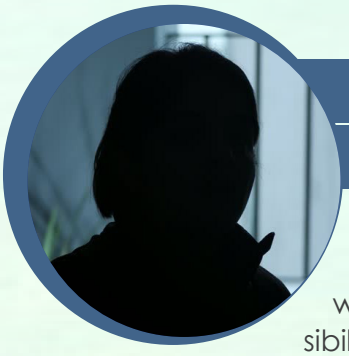

Haguruka supports rights holders facing financial constraints through DNA testing. DNA testing, valuable for paternity cases and identity verification, provides evidence that supports victims in obtaining justice and holds perpetrators accountable in court.

Anne: Haguruka's DNA test restored our family

My name is Anne Kamariza, and I'm from Musanze District. After years of marriage, my husband began denying our two children, claiming they weren't his. It was a devastating situation, marked by his refusal of responsibility, escalating gender-based violence, and constant harassment. He would even physically abuse me in front of our children.

My children were terrified of their father, and I felt like I was failing them as a mother. Desperate, I reached out to Haguruka. Their legal team immediately took up my case and recommended a DNA test to definitively establish paternity and connected me with a counselor who helped me cope with the emotional trauma I had endured.

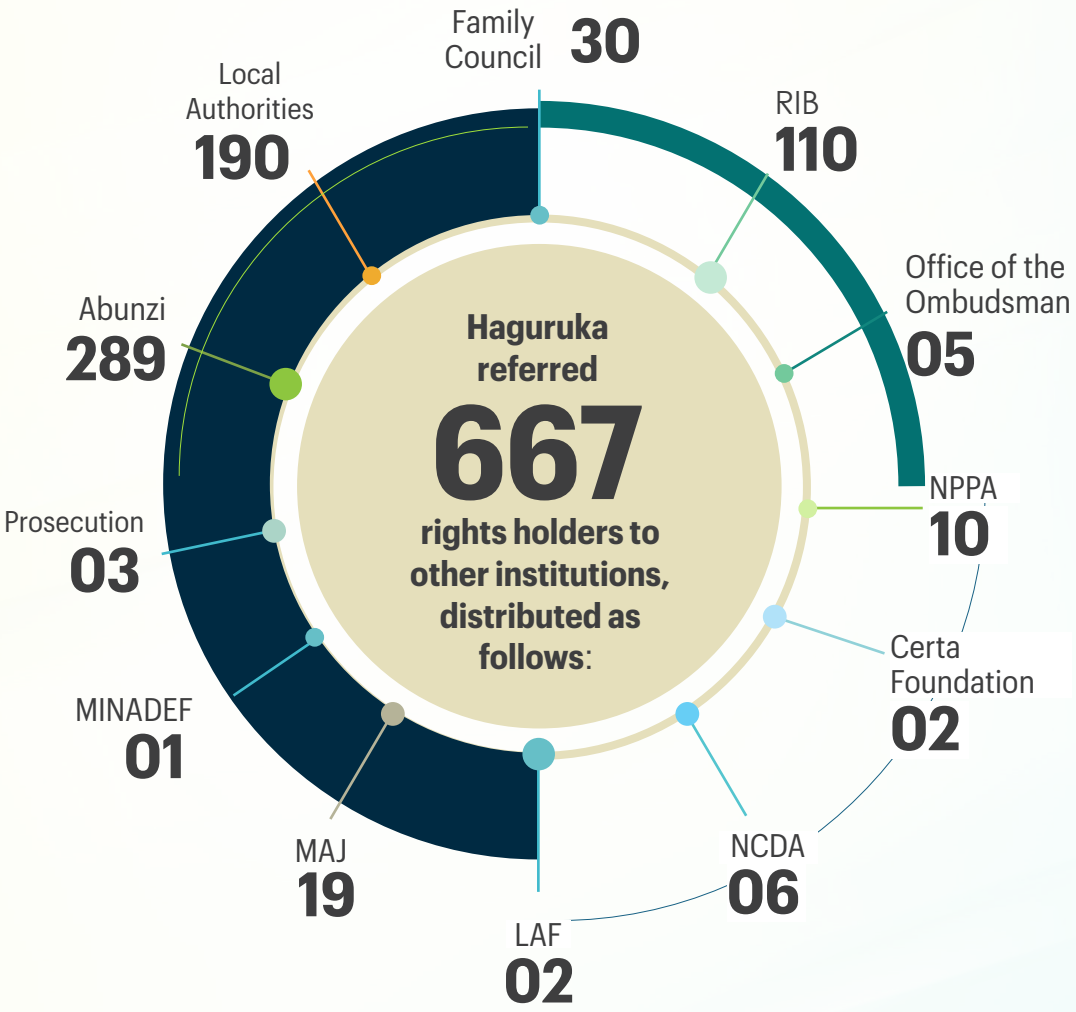

The DNA test results confirmed what I already knew in my heart: he was their father. With the test results in hand, he finally accepted his responsibility as a father. It wasn't just about their identity; it changed our whole family dynamic for the better. The violence and harassment stopped, and we began to rebuild our relationship.

Haguruka's intervention was a lifeline for me and my children. They provided emotional support, legal guidance, and a sense of hope when I thought all was lost.

In addition to these dialogues, teen mothers received empowering services, including counseling, HIV/hepatitis testing, and SRHR support. Furthermore, 32 teen mothers joined a family planning program, and 21 children of teen mothers gained legal recognition through civil registration.

COUPLES RESTORED THEIR RELATIONSHIPS

Story of change for a former military and his wife

Their story is one of many out of 120 couples who participated, 113 pledged to live peacefully, while 3 couples chose to legalize their marriages. My name is Twahirwa Issa, and my wife is Kuradusenge Joseline. We live in Muhoza Sector, Kigombe Cell.

When we first joined the couples' dialogue sessions, we were among the most conflicted participants. I often attended while intoxicated, displaying anger and even insulting the facilitators. At times, we seriously considered not returning.

Our conflicts stemmed from economic struggles and physical violence. As former military personnel, I struggled with trauma after demobilization. Losing my job left me frustrated and hopeless, which led to physical abuse of Joseline especially when she asked for money while I spent our limited earnings on alcohol. Everything began to change after we committed to the couples' dialogue sessions organized by Haguruka.

Over 12 consistent sessions focused on gender equality, GBV prevention, and family cohesion, the facilitators provided close guidance and regular follow-ups, visiting us multiple times at home. Their patience and support helped me confront my trauma and understand the impact of my actions.

Gradually, I decided to change. I found work at a car wash and took full responsibility for supporting my family. Joseline and I learned to communicate better, resolve conflicts peacefully, and rebuild trust. By the end of the program, we had transformed into a model couple and proudly shared our testimony on graduation day.

INVESTING IN WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP AND ECONOMIC EMPOWERMENT

Haguruka empowered 120 women in Musanze and Gasabo through training on self-esteem, confidence, and leadership, creating a supportive environment for pursuing their aspirations.

These sessions also catalyzed the formation of grassroots savings and lending groups. For example, in Rwebeya Cell, 15 women established a savings scheme, collectively contributing 10,000 Rwandan francs per month, which has driven tangible improvements in their living standards.

Uwayezu's story: from domestic life to village leader

My name is Uwayezu Henriette, and I am from Kabeza Cell, Cyuve Sector. Now, I am a village leader, but before HAGURUKA, my life was very different. We had no peace in our house; we used to fight, and economic violence was a constant struggle. It was a very difficult time. Then, I joined the HAGURUKA training. They taught us so much: self-confidence, self-esteem, public speaking, and even how to work with banks to improve our lives. Before, I was afraid to speak up, but the training gave me the courage to share my ideas in community meetings. To my surprise, people listened! They started trusting me, not because I was a woman, but because they valued what I had to say.

That's how I became a village leader. Now, I help other women in my community find their own strength and resolve their conflicts. I even encourage them to take out loans from Umurenge SACCO so we can work together to improve our lives. "I never imagined I could be a leader, but HAGURUKA showed me that I had a voice and that my voice mattered. It's changed my life, and I'm so grateful."

AWARENESS ON SRHR: ENSURING RIGHTS AND CHOICES FOR ALL

Awareness of SRHR emphasized the importance of consent, particularly in sexual matters, and highlighted the role of contraceptive tools in preventing sexually transmitted diseases and unwanted pregnancies. This empowerment enables individuals to confidently voice their consent and stand against gender-based violence, as testified by

In my Muslim community, sexual reproductive health isn't openly discussed, as it's viewed as a sacred subject. One common misconception I learned was that acne and breast size are linked to sexual activity, which isn't true at all. I believe parents should be friends with their kids so they can talk openly about SRHR."

Alida - 20 Years Old

"Growing up in homeless shelters since I was six, I lacked the opportunity to learn about reproductive health from my family. My parents' separation and often conflicting advice further compounded my confusion. Learning about sexual and reproductive health from the sessions has helped me a lot."

Nasili - 22 Years Old

DEEPENING FAMILY COHESION THROUGH THE MULTIFAMILY HEALING SPACES

Multifamily Healing Spaces led by Haguruka are creating more nurturing family environments. We saw significant improvements in parenting approaches: parents reported increased warmth, and youth recognition of positive parenting more than doubled. These changes reflect strengthened trust, empathy, and family bonds.

Multifamily Healing Spaces

Parents Reporting affective practices rose from 64.1%-76.2%

Youth recognition parenting surged from 34%-71.9%

THE IMPACT OF MULTIFAMILY SPACES ON JESSICA'S SCHOOL PERFORMANCE

Growing up in a household plagued by conflict and poor communication, Jessica's academic performance suffered. Her father, Antoine Ibyimana, often made decisions without consulting her mother, Mediatrice, leading to strained relationships, emotional difficulties, and other misbehaviors.

The tension at home affected Jessica's performance at school. Everything changed when the Ibyimana family participated in the Multifamily Healing Space program, which focuses on fostering family relationships and improving the well-being of both parents and children.

Through the sessions, family members learned to listen, apologize, and involve each other in decision-making. As a result, their family conflicts transformed; they began to communicate openly and make decisions together.

The impact of this program extended far beyond the parents, as Jessica's academic performance and confidence soared, with her now ranking among the best performers in class. "I feel supported at home; my grades have improved, and I'm more confident," she shared.

Research & Advocacy and Strategic Partnerships (RAD)

RESEARCH INITIATIVES

OUR CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE NST2 DESIGN PROCESS

Through a coalition of 17 women's rights organizations, namely the Rwanda Women's Alliance formed by Haguruka, we advocate for the rights of women and children. Together, we developed a policy brief outlining key priorities for gender equality and GBV prevention to be included in the National Strategy for Transformation (NST) 2.

KEY PROPOSED INTERVENTIONS FOR NST-2

ASSESSMENT OF GBV SHELTER SERVICES IN RWANDA

Haguruka conducted a comprehensive assessment to identify gaps in the implementation of GBV shelters, recognizing the global challenge of Gender-Based Violence, which primarily affects the safety of women and girls. With many women in Rwanda facing similar experiences, the assessment focused on the quality, accessibility, and effectiveness of existing shelters in meeting the needs of victims.

CHALLENGES IN GBV SHELTER OPERATIONS

Lack of Care for workers
Impact on effectiveness due to lack of burnout sessions

Lack of Clear Guidelines absence of clear establishment and operation guidelines

Inconsistent Administration inconsistent administration due to lack of SOPs

Infrastructure Shortcomings
Inefficiency due to infastructural and tools-related issues

Lack of Common Understanding varied names and purposes across institutions

Limited Access to Services inadequate support due to limited space

Budgetary Constraints
resource-related challenges impacting shelter maintenance

Staff Capacity Issues
Inability to respond adequately due to lack of staff capacity

ADVOCACY ENGAGEMENT

HIGH-LEVEL DIALOGUE ON BUILDING GBV-FREE FAMILIES

To launch the 2024 16 Days of Activism campaign, Haguruka, the Ministry of Gender and Family Promotion, UN Women, and RWAMREC conveneda high-level dialogue on creating GBV-free families. The event brought together government officials, experts, GBV survivors, and community leaders to discuss family-centered GBV prevention, enhanced community interventions, positive parenting, tech-facilitated GBV, and improved prevention and response mechanisms.

Haguruka advocated for:

- The establishment of a specialized court to advance justice for GBV victims and address delays in processing GBV cases.
- In cases where teenage mothers are victims of defilement or rape, it is crucial to pursue criminal proceedings and legal claims for damages in parallel. This ensures the victim receives justice and the compensation they deserve.

HIGH-LEVEL MEETING: STRENGTHENING CHILD RIGHTS ADVOCACY

Haguruka partnered with the National Human Rights Commission to host a high-level meeting on children's rights, gathering 85 experts, officials, and representatives from various organizations. Discussions centered on empowering families to advocate for children and identifying solutions to enhance their capacity in this role. Thirty recommendations were documented and provided to relevant organizations for action.

KEY RECOMMENDATIONS FROM THE MEETING

- Monitoring and addressing family problems to seek sustainable solutions (MIGEPROF)
- Conducting in-depth research on family conflicts to find sustainable solutions (MIGEPROF, NISR)
- Establishing better interaction mechanisms between institutions responsible for monitoring children's issues (NCDA, NRS)
- Implementing measures to accompany and rehabilitate children from correctional institutions and Nyagatare Prison (NCDA, MINALOC, NRS)
- Strengthening efforts to provide legal protection to children who have been raped and assisting them throughout the justice process (MINIJUST)

STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP ENGAGEMENTS

SIGNING MoU WITH RFI

Haguruka signed an MoU with the Rwanda Forensic Institute (RFI), strengthening collaboration in forensic expertise, DNA services, chain of custody, and community awareness. This partnership enhances access to justice by ensuring reliable forensic evidence, particularly for GBV victims.

HAGURUKA AT AFSA2024

This Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) has opened opportunities for Haguruka to attend the African Forensic Sciences Academy conference and a three-day exhibition hosted by the Rwanda Forensic Institute in Kigali in September 2024. This international gathering of forensic science professionals provided opportunities to showcase Haguruka's work, increase visibility, and highlight the vital role of DNA testing in supporting justice. The event facilitated valuable networking, idea exchange, and exploration of collaborative opportunities to enhance access to justice.

PeaceTalks

Our Executive Secretary, Ninette Umurerwa at Peace Talks

HAGURUKA'S VOICE FOR PEACE AT THE GENEVA PEACE TALKS

"I firmly believe that there can be no peace without the protection of human rights. It is only when we respect and uphold the rights of every individual that we can achieve lasting peace for all."

"Peace starts within families. This conviction drives my daily work, where I lead some initiatives and projects focused on building peaceful families, and social cohesion.

Our programs, reflect my commitment to fostering peace at the individual, family, and community levels."

THE VISIT OF THE EMBASSY OF SWEDEN IN RWANDA

Haguruka welcomed a delegation from the Embassy of Sweden in Rwanda, led by Head of Cooperation Martina Fors, to our shelter in Musanze District.

The visit highlighted HAGURUKA's innovative approaches to addressing GBV and providing comprehensive support to victims. The delegation observed the shelter's operations, including counseling and legal aid services.

RECOMMENDATIONS AND WAY FOWARD

1. Strengthen the teen mothers' reintegration program to facilitate them to return to formal and informal education through scholarships, catch-up programs, and vocational training, to sustainably overcome economic, emotional, and relational challenges.
2. Expand Haguruka's legal aid and psychosocial support by securing additional funding to meet the growing demand for legal aid services, strengthening partnerships, increasing community legal education.
3. Strengthening GBV prevention programs that promote sustainable solutions to GBV by addressing resistance to social norms and cultural barriers, challenge harmful practices, hence reducing divorce rates.
4. To increase Haguruka's shelter capacity to accommodate GBV victims, as the demand for temporary accommodation significantly exceeds current capacity due to budget constraints.
5. To address the persistent challenges related to land and property conflicts, through awareness raising, training, and advocacy initiatives, while advocating for stronger legal frameworks and support mechanisms to effectively resolve these disputes.
6. Advocacy for establishment of specialized chambers for GBV cases to prevent delays in handling GBV cases in courts, ensure timely execution of court decisions, and provide comprehensive support to rights-holders, including assistance with court fees.

EMPOWERING OUR TEAM FOR GREATER IMPACT

We are committed to their professional development and well-being. In 2024, staff received training in gender mainstreaming and Monitoring, Evaluation, and Learning (MEL), enhancing their capacity to deliver impactful programs and achieve our strategic goals. We also foster staff well-being and team building, recognizing that a thriving team is the foundation of sustainable change.
